

STANFORD

TODAY!

DOROTHY GISH
in MADAME POMPADOUR

The love life of a famous French beauty who ruled the thrones of Europe but couldn't control her own heart! You'll love it!

Also

A Big Vaudeville Unit
Headed by
HARRY WAIMAN
And his DEBUTANTES
10—Beautiful Girls—10
Direct from the Orpheum circuit

Phil La Tosca
The Jesting Juggler
Another big time

GERALD & HOAG
With
DIZZY HANK World's most human horse
It's a Horse on You!

Sunday—Monday—Tuesday

JOHN GILBERT
With
JEANNE EAGLES
(Star of "Rain")
in

"Man Woman
And Sin"

A motion picture triumph

Palo Alto Times
December 10, 1927

Harry Wayman (misspelled in ad) and his Debutantes, an all-girl orchestra, appeared on stage at the Stanford Theatre on December 10, 1927, as part of the regular weekly vaudeville program. The act was filmed by Vitaphone in 1928, and has been restored by the UCLA Film Archive.